The cliff of windows, some lit up, some broken, allows that variousness will attract and repel, like a happy ending, the way the truth hurts.

– John Ashbery, “A Visit to the House of Fools” change all functional openings (doors, windows, etc) to opposite their initial position, open or closed one after another at some regular interval of 5' or more, in any order

[option: incorporating all flow valves and circuits
